It Was a Time of Spirit . . .

And Unity.

A Time of Victory . . .

A Time of Individuality

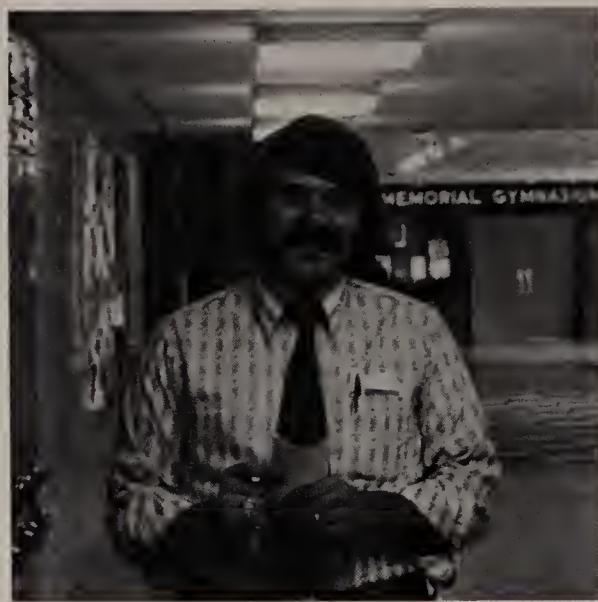

For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways.

Old Testament

With Deep Appreciation

The Senior Class of 1974 dedicates
this Centurion to Mr. John Nishan.

Let me tell you of a man who personifies courage. He has been himself and gained genuine respect among the students. Leaving himself open to be hurt, he has left his lofty teaching tower and come down to feel the sensibilities of being a student. He became involved with our pain, our challenges, and our hopes, accepting the danger inherent in such an involvement. Mr. Nishan above all, truly cares.

They give trophies for good athletes, good students, and good musicians but not for good people. Yet, in a very real sense, the students of South Windsor are his trophies. All our future achievements are in part his because he has helped to make us what we are.

Mr. Nishan excels at being a person and in doing so he has brought out the goodness lying dormant in us all. Bringing forth this basic humaness should be the genuine goal of any educator; before becoming a scientist, a policeman, or a teacher, a man is first a man. This is where our central challenge lies, and where Mr. Nishan is at his best as a teacher.

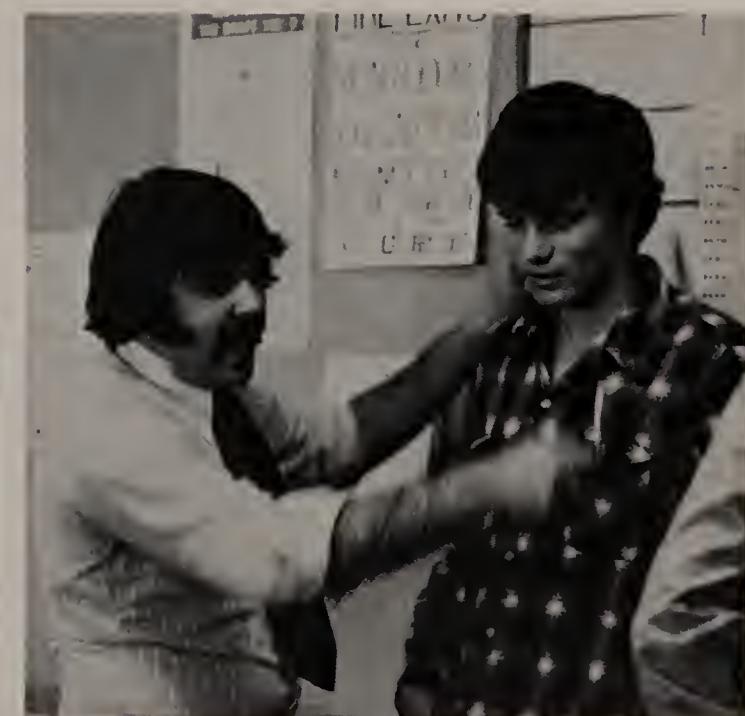

Wordsworth once said, "the best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love." Mr. Nishan, this is just to let you know we remember.

Jeff Nesteruk

A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops.

— Henry Adams

Thou wert my guide, philosopher, and friend.
— Alexander Pope

In Memory of . . .

Diane Marques

The Song Beyond
by Julia Collins Ardayne

April will come
There will be a time
of quickening water
And a returning of the sun.
And though
I may no longer find your hand
When dogwood bursts along the winter
bough,
Across my memories I shall hear
You call to me along the searching wind;
Or in a song unsung, beyond the ear.
